

Farhan Taghizadeh, MD

Language(s): English, Spanish

Dr. Farhan Taghizadeh (pronounced Tah-hee-zah-day) completed his Doctor of Medicine at Penn State College of Medicine in Hershey, PA. He completed his General Surgery Internship and his Otolaryngology Residency at the University of Rochester, followed by a Facial Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery Fellowship at the Inselspital, University of Bern in Switzerland. Dr. Taghizadeh is board by the American Board of Otolaryngology - Head and Neck Surgery and the American Academy of Facial Plastic and Reconstructive Surgery. Dr. Taghizadeh is known for co-founding Aesthetics Biomedical, Inc. which is the leading distributor of the Vivace RF Microneedling Device, Omni Bioceutical Innovations and the development of Growth Factor Skin Care Products, and Amnio Aesthetics. He is a frequent guest lecturer at The Aesthetics Show in Las Vegas, the American Society for Laser Medicine and the American Academy of Cosmetic Surgery. In his downtime, Dr. Taghizadeh is an avid hiker, enjoys spending time with his family, his wife, and his three children, and can always be found researching the newest and most innovative surgical techniques.

Location & Hours

IMS Ear, Nose & Throat

13555 W McDowell Rd. Suite 104

Goodyear, AZ 85395

(480) 840-1769

Education & Qualifications

Medical School:

University of Pennsylvania School of Medicine, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania