

Marissa Rose FNP-C

Primary Care

Language(s): English,

Area of Focus: Family Medicine

Marissa was born and raised on the east coast. She attended University of Delaware and earned a Bachelor's Degree of Science in Business. After many years of visiting Arizona, she made the decision to move. She spent several years working as an Accountant and Manager, when she realized there was something missing in her career. She wanted more human interaction and enjoyed helping people. Returning to college once more, she found her calling in Nursing. She received her ADN in Nursing from Mesa Community College and worked as an RN at Banner University Medical Center in the Emergency Room for 9 years. During her time there, she completed her Bachelor's Degree of Science in Nursing cum laude as well as a Master's of Science Family Nurse Practitioner from Northern Arizona University.

Marissa enjoys an active life of hiking, running, competing in triathlons, HIIT training, cycling, surfing, and van camping from Canada to Mexico with her boyfriend, a Phoenix Firefighter. She has two dogs and a cat, who often accompany her on her many adventures.
